PREFACE.

THIS supplemental catalogue of the Chicago Law Institute Library gives the number, and brief descriptions, of all books added to the library from January 1, 1887, to December 31, 1893, inclusive. It therefore supersedes the five annual supplements heretofore issued, and gives in addition the books added to the library during the year 1893.

This catalogue is intended for the members of the Institute, simply as an index, giving a concise inventory of the titles of books and subjects added to our library since December 31, 1886. As in the last annual supplements, the author and subject indexes have been consolidated under a single alphabetical arrangement. Under the various subjects are given the names of the authors of works devoted, wholly or in part, to that subject, or to a particular branch of that subject. For example, under "Railroads" are given not only such works as "Redfield on Railways," but also Schouler on Bailments, etc., only a portion of which touches upon the law of railways; and "Crosby and Bell on Electric Railways," which concerns only a particular branch of railway law. To ascertain just what work is thus referred to, one has only to turn to the author entry, where the title of the work is given in full. After each author's name in these subject entries has been added the date (of the copyright, as far as possible) of his work, thus enabling one at a glance to ascertain the latest work in the library on any given subject.

During the period covered by this supplemental catalogue about 7,500 accessions have been made to the library, which, on January 1, 1894, contained 27,362 volumes. Of these 1,205 were added during the year 1893.

As only a few copies of the catalogue published in January, 1887, in connection with which this supplemental part must be used, remain for distribution, the Executive Committee call the attention of members to the importance of preserving said catalogues.

A complete list of the officers of the Institute from the time of its incorporation to the present year, and also a list of the members and ticket holders on January 1, 1894, will be found in the appendix.
